BOOK SYNOPSIS

What is death, and is it inevitable? How did life begin, and can it be extended indefinitely? Why is cloning a threat to theology? What does it mean to be scientific? How do we know the earth is older than is presupposed in Genesis? Who was Mitochondrial Eve, and how do we know evolution has occurred? How could wings and eyes have evolved without an Intelligent Designer? Is creationism a form of treason? How do creationists deceive the public? What's so funny about Noah's Ark? How did the kiwi get to New Zealand and why would we want to know? Is there such a thing as life after death, and do the dead have ways of communicating with the living? Answers to these questions—often humorous and surprising ones—are given in this second volume of THROUGH ATHEIST EYES. A copious index will make it easy for readers to find their way back to particular materials when they need ammunition to defend themselves from missionaries and other religious aggressors.
